Web-based SAP GUI Permanently Available for Both Mac and Windows

Since March 2020, a temporary, web-based SAP GUI has been available to many users working from home. This web-based alternative circumvented the need for users to have the SAP GUI installed on their computers. The NeBIS team is pleased to announce that this alternative will remain permanently for all users with access to SAP.

Two choices are available within the SAP Logon tile in Firefly (the temporary option has been removed):

1. SAP GUI Logon – for Windows users only; requires the SAP GUI install
2. SAP Browser Logon– for both Mac and Windows users; does not required an install (web-based)

> Note: Users must be connected to a campus/college network or logged into VPN for both options.

Mac users must use the SAP Browser Logon (web-based) option, as they have done in the past. The only change is that Windows users are also able to use the browser option as a matter of convenience or due the fact that SAP is not installed on their machines. In short, Windows users now have two choices; Mac users still have one.
